

Report on New
Regional Pathways
Grants Awards

Texas Higher Education
Coordinating Board

The 5 ongoing regional Pathways projects bring together teams of educators to support student achievement across sectors

Projects by area and lead institution

- San Antonio: Alamo CC
- El Paso: El Paso CC
- Gulf Coast: Houston CC
- Gulf Coast: San Jacinto College
- Rio Grande Valley: UT-Rio Grande Valley

In 2015, the Legislature provided start up funds for an additional 5 Pathways Projects

Projects by area and lead institution

- Austin: Austin Community College
- Metroplex:
 - Dallas County Community College District
 - University of North Texas (in collaboration with Texas Woman's University)
 - University of Texas at Arlington
- 1 additional grant will be awarded in FY 2017.

“Pathways” will be renamed this year to distinguish it from similarly named initiatives

Pathways will now be called:

Texas Regional Alignment Networks

- This name was identified to be both distinctive and representative of project work