Agency name: Navarro College

Navarro College serves a large rural area in North Central Texas. The service area is comprised of five counties: Navarro, Ellis, Limestone, Freestone and Leon Counties. Only one of the counties, Navarro County, provides ad valorem taxes to the college district. In Ellis County, the estimated population is 153,000. Projections convey that by the year 2020, Ellis County will have well over 210,000 people. Ellis County has grown at a rate of 36% since 2000, while the remaining four (4) counties report growth rates between 1% and 10%. Meeting the educational needs of a diverse and changing service area population is a continuing challenge without tax revenues to support the maintenance and operations of three (3) off-campus centers outside Navarro County.

Navarro College is a low wealth district. Although tax revenues are not collected in four of the five counties within our service area, the college maintains three off-campus centers so residents in this part of the service area are able to access an institution of higher learning within a reasonable driving distance. The Board of Trustees believes providing access to these Texas residents contributes to the quality of life in their communities.

As of Fall 2009, 20% of our students attending the college originated from Navarro County. The remaining 80% of our students reside outside Navarro County, with 45% attending from Ellis County. In November 1999, Navarro College attempted to bring Ellis County, Limestone County, and the Fairfield Independent School District into the college district as a means of increasing our overall ad valorem tax revenue. Unfortunately, these attempts failed.

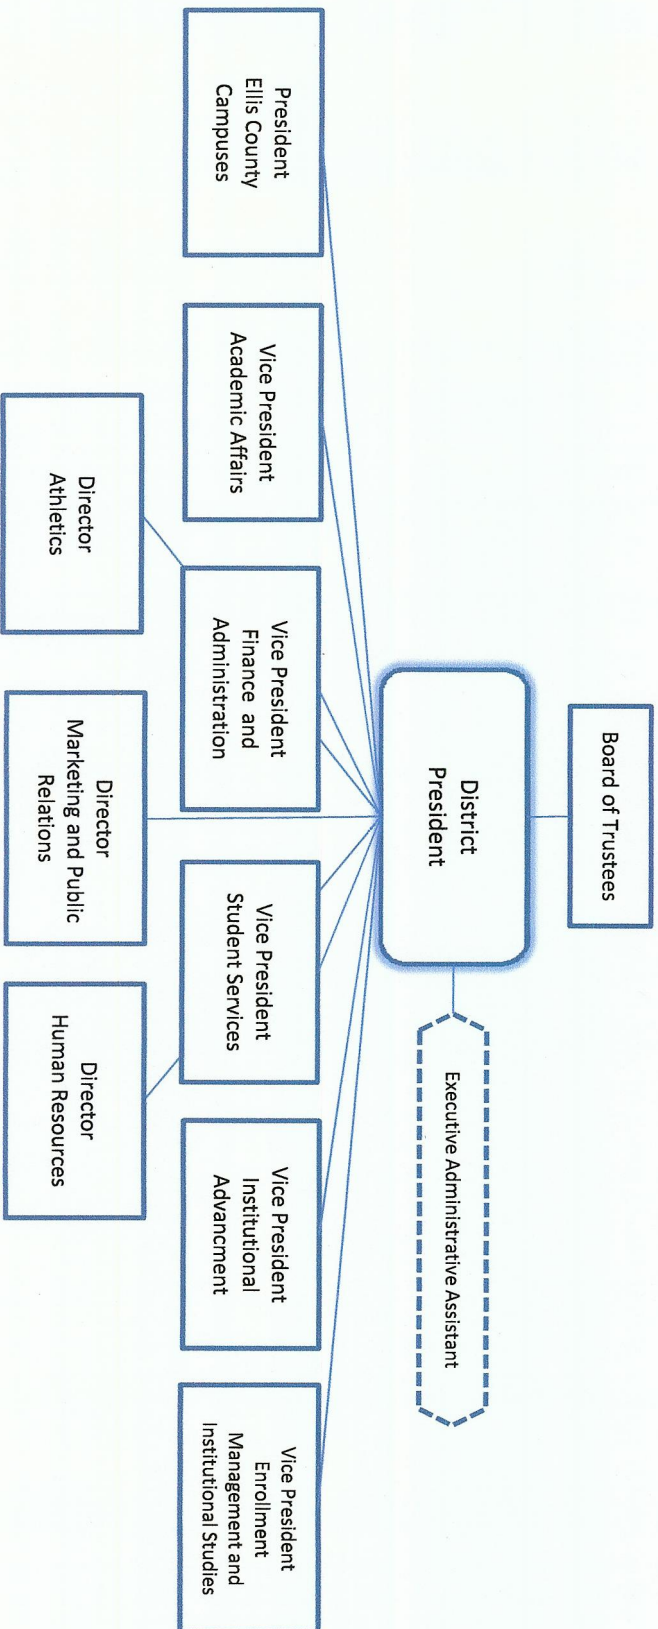

Due to the need for increased revenue, over the past several years the effort by our students through tuition and fees has been substantial. For example, in 2009-2010, the total revenue provided by students was approximately 48.7% of the funding for the educational and general fund budget. The 2010-2011 budget projects that 44.6% of the educational and general fund budget will be provided by student tuition and fee income.

Navarro College is a responsible steward of its limited funds. Navarro College's use of funds compares very favorably to other Texas community colleges, according to data from the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board.

Navarro College is governed by a seven member Board of Trustees elected for six year terms. The current Board Members are: Lloyd D. Huffman, Chairman, Term 2005-2011, Corsicana, Texas; James G. Price, D.D.S., Vice-Chairman, Term 2007-2013, Corsicana, Texas; James E. Borkchum, Jr., Term 2007-2013, Corsicana, Texas; Phil Judson, Term 2008-2011, Corsicana, Texas; Billy Todd McGraw, Term 2007-2013, Blooming Grove, Texas; Richard L. Aldama, Term 2009-2015; and A.L. Atkeisson, Term 2009-2015, Kerens, Texas.

Navarro College believes it is appropriate and necessary that the State of Texas assume a larger share of the financial burden we face and become a full fiscal partner in our sincere desire to accomplish our mission and serve our constituency. Navarro College endorses the three exceptional item funding requests submitted on behalf of the fifty (50) college districts, on July 20, 2010, by the Texas Association of Community Colleges.
