Administrator's Statement

Headquartered in Killeen, TX, Central Texas College is uniquely located in a region that supports the United States' largest military base (Ft. Hood). CTC has provided learning advancement opportunities for diverse students of every age from all walks of life for the last fifty years. Central Texas College's service area encompasses more than 10,000 square miles and includes all or part of twelve (12) Texas counties in the central Texas region, including: Bell, Coryell, Burnet, Lampasas, Hamilton, Llano, Mason, McCulloch, Mills, San Saba, Gillespie, and Williamson. In order to effectively serve and provide value to more rural communities, CTC offers educational programs in Brady, Burnet, Gatesville, Hamilton, Lampasas, Marble Falls and San Saba. Central Texas College also delivers education to service members and their families all over the world. In addition to its Central Campus, CTC operates a Ft. Hood campus, Continental Campus, Europe Campus, Navy Campus, Pacific Far East Campus and more than 140 global sites that allow flexible, portable and technologically advanced education service delivery to those who serve. Since the Texas College Credit for Heroes inception, CTC has served as the developer/administrator/evaluator for the program and partners with military and private industry to provide veterans education transition programs that result in quality jobs and careers. CTC also partners with Killeen ISD to offer Early College High School; and with TDCJ to provide education programs and services to incarcerated individuals, particularly female inmates.

Central Texas College was created to be and remains an affordable ($76 per credit hour including fees) open admissions two-year institution offering a comprehensive array of credit, degree, certificate and lifelong learning programs. CTC credits will articulate to most four-year institutions and CTC has a seamless partnership with upper division Texas A&M - Central Texas, whereby a student can graduate with a bachelor's degree for under $17,000; that's $17,000 for all four years.

CTC also seeks to make sure our education service delivery is accessible. Classes are offered during the day, at night, on weekends and online.

Central Texas College endorses the $1.8 billion request for state funding made on behalf of the 50 Texas community college districts by the Texas Association of Community Colleges (TACC) in its letter dated July 28, 2016.

Serving a region with a strong military backbone, fulfillment of the collective community college state funding request for the next bicennium will further enable Central Texas College to maximize the education needs of the tens of thousands who serve & have served their families and the civilian families who directly or indirectly support our troops. With additional state support, Central Texas College will make the necessary investments to improve educational outcomes by:

- 1) Growing our military transition education programs and partnerships.
- 2) Expanding Early College High School within and beyond the Killeen Independent School District to the Coppas Cove Independent School District and other districts in our service area.
- 3) Making Dual-Credit programs for high school students more robust.
- 4) Broadening our Weekend and Evening College offerings
- 5) Improving educational access points for students who are remote and rural.
- 6) Modernizing technology and infrastructure that will provide for a seamless, positive education experience from application to graduation.
- 7) Enhancing campus safety.

With appropriate state investment in community college education, which happens to be the most affordable postsecondary education option in the state, Central Texas College can continue to be a low-cost, high quality education provider for a special community with unique and diverse postsecondary education needs. In partnership with our local community college, university, and state partners, we can make the 60x30TX dream a reality.
